

Mind Your Manners

*Serve one another
through love
for the whole law
is fulfilled in one statement*

*You shall love
your neighbor
as yourself.*

In St. Paul's colorful words today, he says, don't bite and devour one another, but use your freedom to "serve one another through love." Think about how freeing that feels, when you decide to serve another person lovingly, especially when, in your opinion, they don't deserve it. Maybe you're going through an unpleasant, argumentative situation with a neighbour or a family member, and the "biting and devouring" is getting pretty miserable. We all have that temptation, don't we, to keep an argument going until we have the last word, or at least until we've made our point. Maybe you have a hostile supervisor at work... a teacher who keeps criticizing you... or a spouse who bites first and asks questions later. It's a huge challenge not to get "hooked into" their hostility with an angry response. But don't look backwards. If Christ lives in us, we keep our hand steady on the plough. We focus our gaze on planting seeds of respect, kindness, gentleness, and the hospitality of Christ. Next, the other person wants to defend themselves, so they say something they will probably live to regret! Then it's back to us, so we stoke the fires of anger a little higher. In a sane moment, we would realize this is not "serving one another through love." Those who are dead to the way of Christ will have to plant their own seeds-but that's not our business. Just don't get caught up in dealing with dead things, because you belong among the living. The Holy Spirit constantly brings us to life, so we, in turn, can bring life, peace and true hospitality to those on the path in front of us! Go in peace to love and serve our God!

Stewardship Reflections

"No one who puts a hand to the plough and looks back is fit for the kingdom of God." It is not easy to be a disciple in Jesus. For anyone who claims to be a disciple of Jesus, stewardship is not an option. Developing the virtues of prayer, gratitude, perseverance, humility, mercy, generosity, trust, simplicity, responsibility and patience helps, and makes it easier for us.
